SIRENIC GRANTS DREAMTECH EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS TO DISTRIBUTE MOBILEPA IN GREECE AND TO THE SHIPPING INDUSTRY

3GSM, Barcelona – 14th February 2006 – Sirenic Group, the mobile email and data management company signed an exclusive partnership agreement with DREAMTECH Information Systems, the Athens based integrated business solutions provider for telecom and data to distribute its MobilePA software in Greece and to the shipping and shipbroking industries worldwide.

Sirenic's MobilePA allows users to access email, contacts, calendar and news items in an optimised manner on virtually any mobile phone or device as well as by voice or on the web. The service also includes the Sirenic Relevance Server which allows users rapidly to search and to retrieve from up to 10,000 archived emails and other content on the mobile device.

DREAMTECH will offer Sirenic's products and services on either an enterprise or managed service basis to telecom operators, enterprises and SMEs, as well as to consumers and small office/home office users in Greece and to its shipping industry customers worldwide. The partnership will enable DREAMTECH to exploit the considerable demand for high end wireless applications and solutions.

Commenting on the agreement, Bertrand Lipworth, Chairman of Sirenic, said "Greece and the shipping vertical in particular, represent attractive markets for Sirenic and MobilePA and we are therefore delighted to have formed a partnership with DREAMTECH, a proven player in these markets with an extensive existing customer base. We view this agreement as another step towards gaining broad international distribution for MobilePA through partnerships with leading local players."

Dr Yannis Manolessos, Business Development Director of DREAMTECH added: "DREAMTECH is always looking for opportunities to create synergies with partners who can offer state-of-the-art solutions. Sirenic's MobilePA is an ideal match for our Comp@ss Messaging suite and will be adopted by our existing customers in the shipping sector, as well as in other industry sectors in Greece. The market for mobile email and content management solutions is growing rapidly in Greece and we are confident that with this agreement both DREAMTECH and Sirenic will be able to provide unique offerings which are not currently available in the IT marketplace."

In December 2005 Sirenic signed an agreement with Cellcom Plus to distribute Sirenic's products in India and Pakistan. In January 2006 Sirenic signed an agreement with Cellempower for distribution in the United Arab Emirates and Bahrain. The agreement with DREAMTECH continues Sirenic's strategy of seeking extensive international distribution for its products to meet customer demand.

About Sirenic

Sirenic Group is a UK based software company that has developed MobilePA, a proprietary and unique mobile email and content management service, available on virtually any device i.e. phone, mobile phone, smartphone, PC, laptop or PDA, depending on how the user chooses to access information and their location. MobilePA offers email that is fully indexed with a searchable archive of more than 10,000 emails accessible from the mobile device, with additional functions such as email text converted to voice and the ability to reply to emails by voice, enabling the user to access and to respond whilst on the move. Email can also be prioritised through heuristic usage as well as 'pushed' or delivered through SMS. MobilePA also delivers internet/intranet content, user relevant news feeds and can be integrated with CRM systems. More information can be found at www.sirenic.com and www.mobilepa.com
